Specific Learning Difficulties

Pupils with specific learning difficulties can just as easily learn an instrument once we know their learning curve. Adapting for individual Pupils and their learning curves help us as Teachers to learn and teach from a different angle. You can say these Pupils are teaching us. One size does not fit all!

If you are happy to disclose to us our Pupils learning curve, then it gives us the tools to read up and bring new material and exercises to the classroom. To think and learn like them. This private information would only be shared with our Music Teachers and were necessary, with your permission, disclose this information to the examination board in order that our Pupils receive the recommended adjustment to their exams.
